FAMILY PHOTOGRAPHS COLLECTION

All relatives on pictures have at least one yellow card. The number of the first photograph and its page number appear in the UPPER LEFT corner (additional photos are listed below). The person's family number appears in the UPPER RIGHT corner. Some relatives having two family numbers (related more than once) have cards on which the family number relevant to the photo is shown. The foto's code number (Upper Left) determines in which album the foto is filed.

A rare foto taken in 1899 in Graudenz of Viktor Bluhm, his wife Auguste (the daughter of Israel and granddaughter of Aron Conitzer) and their 12 children (six others died in infancy. Curiously, our family in Jeschewo and later Bromberg knew them but apparently had no close contacts with any of them. I had contacts with only a few of them.

He had come for his usually annual visit to his siblings' families in Berlin in 1917 just as America entered the war, and was promptly declared an enemy alian (in his own country of birth). As a boy of about 18, went to Argentina and supposedly was a gaucho, and came to San Francisco in 1856 or 1857. Became a prosperous merchant in Nevada and in San Francisco, had 9 children but only 3 grandchildren, of whom Paul S. This foto was a gift from Annette (Conitzer) Jacoby, the daughter of Lothar (Alexander's brother). It is apparently a foto taken during a visit of Alex and "Daja" to his parents, possibly as an engaged couple. The visit took place in Marienwerder 1899 or early 1900. Others on the foto could not be identified.

The youngest son of Oser was also named for his grandfather (Aron) who had died four years earlier. Arnold was a bookkeeper (accountant) in a textile business in Berlin and retired early because of his own troubles with TB (1928). He lived on a singularly boring life in rented rooms, and faithfully came to visit us, especially during the years when his sister Wally lived with us. He was the perfect introvert and barely spoke to anybody. I never asked aunt Wally about him, and he volunteered no information worth recording.

Aron ben Israel, born 1789 near Warsaw, the head of the Conitzer families in West Prussia, came to Zempelburg with his mother, possibly after first living in Konitz (from which city he took his name when naturalized in 1812 (actually, his mother Raheme, the widow of Israel, became a Prussian citizen, her son's citizenship derived from hers). Aron died in Zempelburg in 1783. On his death record, the age is wrongly given as 98). A cheder teacher and Torah scroll writer, an Orthodox Jew who spoke and wrote Yiddish.

Aunt Carry (Caroline) came from a well-to-do family in Hamburg and conquered uncle Max with her beautiful eyes. She was very conscious of her place in society (and looked a bit down on all the small merchant types of Conitzers) She also spoke with the precision typical of Hamburgians who claim they alone speak perfect High German (as the Westprussians certainly did not). I knew her from my visits to her with her sister-in-law Wally, and I gained the clear impression that the other family members did not care much for her. She long suffered much from cancer which took her life in 1936.

I came to know her and her sisters and also her brother, Carl, because Aunt Wally and I attended their family's seder a few times. Theirs was probably the only Conitzer family to be observant, Carl leading the Seder faithfully each year. The father, Alexander died in 1931 after long illness (probably cancer), and my visit to him in the Jewish Hospital was a truly traumatic experience for an 11 year old boy. Else had a heart condition which ended her life at only 32 years of age.

He was perhaps the very first of all of my mother's cousins to meet me, sometime in 1923 or early 1924 (in my grandmother's apartment). An exceptionally friendly and intelligent man, he was quite averse to writing letters, which meant that in all the postwar years we had more than one or two letters between us. When I was in England (1943-45) I was never able to visit him. Curiously, after he met Martin Levy (through me) he corresponded for some years with Martin and Helen, but not with me.

wait to join him in Berlin after her "escape" from stuffy loved uncle, who had the contact with distant cousin Sali Segall of the Rutgers Works, because after he gave her

I well remember my visits to the Jonas family and their big fur business in Frankfurt/Oder in 1925 and, I think, 1927. During the second visit, little Wilhelm Hermann Gabriel Jonas had already joined the family as the first grandchild of Margarethe Jonas.

The double-wedding Jonas-Nussbaum was the last family event to bring together descendants of Oser and Eva (Cohn) Conitzer. It took place May 31, 1926 in the wedding room of the Synagogue Fasanenstrasse.

The 15 wedding guests are identified below the foto. No. 9 is little Hans-Gerhart Rudolf Richter, then 6 1/2 years old, who acted as the flower boy, spreading rose petals in front of the bridal couples, a moment I clearly remember to this day, April 15, 1990...

Isidor Julius Jonas (1874 Bromberg) was the 2nd of three three children (and the only son) of Heimann Jonas and his first wife, Henriette (Cohn). Born in Bromberg in 1874, he studied engineering and in 1910(?) joined Brown, Boveri & Cie in Baden, near Zuerich, Switzerland. His wife, a Gentile Catholic was very observant, a fact which estranged her family from their Jewish relatives. A great German patriot, Julius joined the German army as a sergeant and fought in WW I, then returned to Switzerland. After 1938, my mother corresponded with him and he became a somewhat reluctant helper in a good cause, but was neither able nor apparently willing to help us get into Switzerland to save our lives. After WW II I corresponded with him for

The first son of Heimann and Margarethe studied first medicine, and during that time became a friend of Franz Rosenzweig. He later changed to art and studied painting, and was a student of Lovic Corinth. His early work, of which I saw much in Frankfurt and later Berlin was rather dark-colored and "academic," but once he was in France and later in Israel, his palette virtually exploded in a rage of colors, while his perception became ultra-expressionist. While in Switzerland in 1933 or 1934, he contracted ill health by drinking apparently polluted water, was long ill and often incapacitated, and died in Jerusalem in 1942.

With his brother Fred and his sisters Else and Gerfounded by their father Heimann in Bromberg after the latter's death in 1915, and until 1933, when they were forced to liquidate the business (and emigrated to Copenhagen). Uncle Oscar was particularly friendly to me, and with his brothers Ludwig and Rudolf among my favorite uncles. It was he who waited for me to disembark in Staten Island (June 21, 1941) for seven hours, and who was my host during the week I spent in Gertrud Jonas. Winter 1907, Bromberg, just after my mother graduated as second in her class in high school. (Second only because she was Jewish!). The dresses reached down to the shoes, and of the neck, as little as possible was allowed to be shown. The hats were in fashion for quite some more years yet.

Con 22 Richter, Else (Segall) C2 595 T 15

My mother found herself with all the nearest and dearest relatives assembled. Feelings may well have been mixed: the new cousins-in-law were of a different kind from all those Conitzers who had grown up together with very close ties to each other. Possibly all newly acquired family members had to earn their rightful place in close-knit families.

Among the few deported Jews to survive TEREZIN were Julius and Rosalie Schustak (who lived in Halle) because they decided to accept the offer of a direct train ride to Switzerland (in 1945) made by the Gestapo as a "good will" gesture. Many others refused because they could not believe the offer was genuine. I corresponded with Rosalie until her death in 1958 in Vevey, where she lived in a senior citizens' home. Julius survived only by 3 years, dying in 1948 in Clarens, near Montreux, Switzerland. The couple was childless.

My maternal grandmother had the great misfortune to lose her husband, Philipp Segall when their only child Else was but four months old. She turned to members of her own family (not liking the Segall relations very much) and in 1900 became the manager of the household of the motherless Philippsthal family in Neustadt/Pinne in Posen Province. She was to be with them for 25 years and thus only rarely able to see her daughter. Grandmother Segall died of a heart attack while watching a movie in a nearby cinema. I remember visiting her home (in Berlin s. 1920) but have no recollection of her at all, but recall that on the day she died my mother was informed by telephone, whereupon she fainted and fell to the floor in the dining room of grandmother Kohn's apartment (Uhlandstrasse 140) where we were then still living. Just some weeks earlier, I still recall, I had an experience of feeling that she had been walking passed me in either this room or else at the Philipps-thal apartment (Kaiserin Augusta Strasse), with her robe just touching me - but of course it might have been grandmother Kohn, whom I saw every day - only that I cannot connect a face to this odd experience...

Con 64 Segall, Martha (Conitzer)

p. 61

Because of her association with the Philippsthals, I kept the only foto of the old gentleman and his seven children, to whom Martha Segall became their mother. The 25-year relationship was a most cordial one. I recall a couple of the Philippsthal brothers, who owned a toothpaste factory, visiting my mother (whom they knew from her visits to her mother) sometime in 1928/30, while we lived in the Mommsenstrasse. Very friendly fellows, they gave us several tubes of toothpaste as a gift.

BRONTE, Charlotte (1816 - 1855)

BRONTE, Emily (1818 - 1848) English Novelists. Family of 5 girls and 1 boy lived with father and an aunt at Haworth Parsonage, Yorkshire. Educated mainly at home except for few months boarding school 1824-5. Charlotte enrolled in another school 1831, stayed 18 months and later taught there, 1835 - 38. Became a governess but found the work unsuitable. They both spent 8 months in 1842 as students at Pensionnat Heger, Brussels, where Charlotte taught in 1843. She married Rev. Arthur Bell Nicholls 1854, died during pregnancy less than a year later. Emily remained at home. Did not marry. (Br. P.O.) Novels: Charlotte — pseudonym Currer Bell — Jane Eyre — 1847, Gt. Brit 915. Emily — pseudonym Ellis Bell — Wuthering Heights — 1847, Gt. Brit 917.

BUNKE, Tamara ("Tania") (1937 - 1967) For reference only in USA. Daughter of German Communist Prof. E. Bunke and his co-worker Esperanza N. Bider a Polish Jewess, who did not marry because of Hitler's race laws. Escaped to Argentine 1935 and became citizens. Moved to E. Germany 1952 where "Tania" was an official interpreter for Che Guevara during his visit 1959 and in whose cause she became interested. She went to Cuba in 1961 and was employed in Ministry of Education, entered the school of Journalism and was a member of Cuban women's militia. Member of abortive guerilla force in Nicaragua 1962. Arrived Bolivia 1964 to pave way for Che Guevara. Adopted new name, adopted Jewish background, and in 1966 married a Bolivian to obtain a passport, after which the marriage was dissolved. Made clandestine visits to Cuba and Mexico. In Bolivia she made contacts and secured bases. Through a job on an advice to the lovelorn radio programme was able to send coded messages. Guevara arrived secretly in Bolivia and began the events that led to his death in October 1967. The Guerillas were split into two groups. Tania was with the other group operating in the jungle when she was killed by an army patrol August 31, 1967. (H. Alter, Ont. Canada) Cuba Gibbons #1971.

CABALLERO, Fernan (1796 - 1877) Spanish Novelist. Cecilia Francisca Josefa Buhl de Faber. Born and educated Hamburg. Father a merchant and editor. "La Gaviota" 1849 made her famous, translated into most European languages. Had already written an anonymous romance published in German 1840. This and "La Familia de Alvarado" (written in German first) were her best. Pioneer in the realistic field, she wrote on themes within her own experience. Had gift of observation and talent for picturesque narration. Later works emphasized the moral lesson and were less successful. (Enc. Brit:) Spain 2140.

VICTIMS OF PERSECUTION 1933-1945

Alphabetical catalog of relatives who were deported or suffered violent death caused by the Nazis.

The person's genealogical table number is shown in red (name codes: C1 = COHN, C2=CONITZER, K=KOHN, AN=ARON NEISSER, SN=SIMON NEISSER, NO=NEUMANN-OPPENHEIM, R=RICHTER, BS=BARUCH SEGALL, JS=JOSEPH SEGALL, S², 3, and 4 = SELBI-GER, WL=WOLFERMANN/LEDERMANN (no Leder-mann records).

GB data from the GEDENKBUCH, several entries vary in information from that obtained from ITS correspondence 1945-70, errors in birthdates not noted, as our dates are the correct ones. GB gives dates of death in extermination camps but no dates for deportation. Those noted are from the ITS correspondence.

Mommsen, basing his objection on SN's book, criticized Treitschke's support of that idea and said "it was pure invention, as SN proved by his statistics. (p.8).
In 1884, SN published "Zur Statistik der Juden in Preussen 1816-1880, in which he tried to strengthen his earlier argument. p.12: Neubach: Treitschke was undoubtedly ly right in saying that the immigration wave was not just a fable, as Neumann claimed. Statistics were not exact enough and complete enough to show the whole picture. Puttkamer is also correct: it was a Landplage. Neubach later on shows that the native Jewry was not particularly upset over the expulsion of Polish-born Jews from East Prussia and Silesia, as they did not feel much kinship - and did not feel it was a case of Anti-semitic persecution either: More Christian Poles than Jewish Poles were expelled (~~not 1882~~ some 10,000 Jews plus some 20,000 Christian Poles. Universität in Jerusalem ist für das nächste Jahr vor-gesehen. Das würde auf einer Pressekonferenz in Frankfurt a.M. vom Vorsitzenden des hiesigen Vereins

"Freunde der Hebräischen Universität", Professor Dr.
B. Simonsohn, bekanntgegeben. Mit dem Bau, der das Geographische Institut der Universität aufzunehmen bestimmt ist, ist bereits begonnen worden. Der vor nahezu 20 Jahren in Los Angeles heimgegangene
Professor Oppenheimer, der als Nationalökonom und

Soziologe lange Zeit dem
Lehrkörper der Frankfurter Universität angehörte, würde im nächsten März sein

100. Lebensjahr vollendet
haben. Die Berliner "Freun-

Stadt Frankfurt zu zählen ist, werden Mittel in ähn-licher Höhe erwartet. Das Oppenheimer-Institut wird dem Andenken der umgekommenen jüdischen Wis-

Nehemia

Gedächtnisausstellung
für Nehemia Pevsner

Nehemia Pevsner war der russische Name des kürzlich in Connecticut (USA) verstorbenen Bildhauers Naum Gabo (1890-1977). Mehrere seiner abstrakten Plastiken sind bis Mitte Oktober in der 15. Europäischen Kunstausstellung in Berlin, "Tendenzen der zwanziger Jahre" zu sehen. In jener Zeit lebte und arbeitete Gabo-Pevsner in Berlin und beteiligte sich an Ausstellungen in Deutschland. Er ist der jüngere Bruder des gleichfalls abstrakten Bildhauers Antoine Pevsner (1884-1962) und ein Verwandter des 1902 in Leipzig geborenen englischen Kunsthistorikers Professor Sir Nikolaus Pevsner.

p.46: NP (A refugee art historian) was appointed Slade Professor at CAMBRIDGE (in 1949)

p.91: Prof.Nikolaus Pevsner, who holds the Slade Chair of Fine Arts at Cambridge, is engaged in writing a history of the buildings of England, which is designed to give the common man an understanding of the beauties of his towns and villages
the the country-houses throughout the land. His books, included in the popular Penguin library, sparkle with a wealth of ideas and illuminate social history from architecture. Originally a professor of Goettingen U in Germany, he reveals to the British people the architectural treasures as well as the blemishes and defacement of their towns and countryside. IN THE CORONATION HONOURS OF 1953, he was made a Commander of the ORDER of the British Empire (CBE).

Einer der bedeutendsten deut-schen Botaniker, Professor Dr.
Ernst Georg Pringsheim, Honorarprofessor an der Universität Göttingen, ist 80 Jahre alt geworden. Pringsheim, dessen internationaler Ruf vor allem durch seine Forschungen auf dem Gebiet der Pflanzenphysiologie begründet wurde, stammt aus Breslau, und war bis 1939 in Prag als Direktor des Pflanzenphysiologi-schen Instituts tätig. Während des zweiten Weltkrieges lebte Pringsheim in der Emigration in England, wo er seine Lehr- und Forschungstätigkeit an der Universität London sowie an der Botanic School der Universität Cambridge fortsetzen konnte.

RASCHI

Liber, M. Raschi.

Philadelphia Jewish Public Society, 1906

reviewed unfavorably p 167⁹ by Max Schlossinger, (Liberist) ZHB 10, 1906.

Liber very good public domain, his style poor, his knowledge also.
Much extraneous material included. The judgment on Raschi's abilities very faulty.

RASCHI -1-
MARK, ALEXANDER: ESSAYS IN JEWISH BIO-GRAPHY. PHIL, JEWSPUBLN SOC, 1947. "Rashi", pp. 61-86.
p. 63 year of birth traditionally 1040, but exact date not known. Some sources date it 1028.
p. 64: tombstone does no longer show date of death.
traditional sources claim he died ~~in 1040~~, age 65.
He died 29 Tammuz 4865 (July 13, 1105). Born in Troyes, Champagne. Nothing known about parents. A brother of Rashi's mother was (p. 65) S. RIMON THE ELDER, a pupil of R. Gershom, but we do not know where Simon lived, or whether he had any influence on his nephew.
p. 68: R. ISSAC BEN JUDAH and R. ISAAC HALEVI, teachers of Rashi, WERE RELATED TO HIM. R. I. ben Judah was R Y Mainz.
R. I. HALEVI was in WORMS. Rashi did attend Ys in both Mainz and Worms. ...

short hist of Raschi and his family. Nothing new.

RASCHI -2-

p. 69: 2 or three daughters:
JOECHEBED married R. MEIR BEN SAMUEL who attended Mainz
Academy with Rashi. 4 sons. -- ISAAC ~~ISAKENEN~~ SAMUEL, SOLOMON and JACOB (RABBENU TAM).
2nd dau MIRIAM married R. JUDA BAR NATHAN, a son YOM-TOB, and a daughter.
3rd daughter is doubtful: RACHEL. R. TAM mentions the divorce of "his aunt" RACHEL (BELLE-ASSEZ) from ELIESER called Joselin. but "aunt" (Dodah) may here mean cousin and not aunt. It is still in doubt which interpretation is correct. it may just mean cousin, relative.

Raschi born 1040 (others say 1030) in Troyes. SALOMON
BEN ISAAK. Definitely not Jarchi (misreading of name).
His mother the sister of SIMEON THE ELDER, a student of Rabbi Gerschom (who d. 1040). had three daughters, no sons. 1st ∞ JEHUDA BEN NATHAN, 2nd became mother of SCHEMAJA (father's name  not known). 3rd married

MEYER aus דומה, genannt ר"ם. had three sons.
Commentator SAMUEL, who followed Raschi in office, ~~and~~ and his son was JOSEPH PERATH. 2nd son of Meyer was ISAAK ר"ם, 3rd JAKOB (Tham ר"ת) founder of the Thosaphoth. Meyer's daughter married SAMUEL, and their son was ISAAK THE ELDER ר"ם. Isak's son was ELCHANAN and Elchanan's son SAMUEL, all famous rabbis. ~~He~~ died between 1104 and 1105. either 64 or 74 years old.

JHR

Alexander Weinbaum was the organist and choir director in the Luetzowstrasse. I played for him my version of Liszt/s Rapsodie (by ear) because my grandmother insisted I was unusually talented. He didn't think so, and afterwards it was decided to have me take private piano lessons with ~~Carl~~ Meissner, who taught the master class in the (Walter Carl M) Sternsche Konservatorium. That must have been in 1929/30, while we lived in the Mommsenstrasse (and Meissner at the other end) He died 1932.

Naturalization = permanent (1964 Supreme Court decision) JHR

There is reference to the Supreme Court Decision (Schneider v. Rusk) made in 1964 "holding invalid a statute which provided for loss of citizenship by a naturalized American who resided for three years in the country of his birth or former nationality" since "this statute proceeds on the impermissible assumption that naturalized citizens as a class are less reliable and bear less allegiance to this country than do the native born. . . ." (Since that decision, naturalized citizens may reside in any country including their native country without loss of their American citizenship.)

Man Hit By Train In Scio Township

Hermann A. Krotor, 53, of 1520 Glen Leven Dr., was found dead by sheriff's deputies at 9:45 a.m. yesterday after he had been hit by a New York Central train.

The death was ruled a suicide by deputy medical examiner Dr. Paul Gikas.

The engineer of the train told sheriff's deputies he saw a man lying on the west bound track near the Huron River Dr. intersection with Maple Rd. in Scio township.

The deceased raised his head and saw the train approaching and then lay down again, the engineer reported. The train was going 61 miles per hour at the time of impact, he said.

Sheriff's deputies reported that Krotor had apparently driven to the scene in his late-model car and then walked to the tracks.

Hermann Zondek
gestorben ↓

Im gesegneten Alter von 94 Jahren verschied in Jerusalem Professor Hermann Zondek, letzter Überlebender des einstmals berühmten medizinischen Trios der "drei Zondek-Brüder", die in den zwanziger Jahren in Berlin zu den Koryphäen der medizinischen Wissenschaft und ärztlichen Praxis gehörten. Hermann Zondek erlangte damals Weltruhm durch seine Pionierarbeiten auf dem Gebiet der Hormonforschung; Staatsmänner, prominente Künstler und Industrielle gehörten zu seinen Patienten. Alle drei Brüder wanderten nach der nationalsozialistischen "Machtübernahme" nach Palästina aus; Hermann arbeitete am Bikur Cholim Hospital in Jerusalem und wurde später der Leiter von dessen Abteilung für innere Medizin, einen Posten, den er bis zu seiner Pensionierung bekleidete.

If you have BLUE SHIELD or MEDICARE, a claim is in process for services rendered this past month. You should pay only for services in deductible or co-insurance in the description. The dollar amount owed will figure in the top line of the description. Please pay this amount in full to University of Michigan Internal Medicine Associates (U.M.I.M.A. on check) at the above

If you have other health insurance, a claim for inpatient services has been filed with your insurance company. If you received outpatient services, a claim will be sent to you for your signature, and for you to submit to your insurance company. You should receive payment directly from your insurance company unless special arrangements have been made with our Billing Office. You are responsible for the payment of outpatient services to us. Please pay this amount in full to University of Michigan Internal Medicine Associates (U.M.I.M.A. on check) at the above

Note: Blue Shield Patients Only

If you have Blue Shield insurance, the following services are usually not covered by Blue Shield:

Office Visits, Outpatient Consultations, Injections, Allergy Tests, and such as scratch tests, patch tests, photopatch tests, etc.

If you have received any of these services, please send a check for the full amount for any of the above-mentioned items. Please pay this amount in full to the University of Michigan Internal Medicine Associates (U.M.I.M.A. on check) at the address.

If you should have any further questions, please call our Billing Office at 313-763-1521.
